

trprimes - truncatable prime numbers

Truncatable prime numbers remain prime when the most significant or least significant digit is dropped. For example 317 is a left truncatable prime because 317,17 and 7 are prime. It is also a right truncatable prime because 31 and 3 are prime. It is not a both left and right truncatable prime because 1 is not a prime number.

This documentation is in progress.