

Since `begin()` is called in order from left to right, and `end()` is called in order right to left, pipelining nodes B and C may call `pull()` in `begin()` and `end()` without A having to handle any special cases.